Borg-Warner planning $20 million expansion

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
 Borg-Warner Chemicals, Inc. plans to begin a $20 million construction project late next year to expand its Baymar Plastics Plant at Port Blenheim Industrial Park.

Leo Kowal, plant manager, said Wednesday afternoon the construction work will begin in September or later in 1984 to increase the plant production capacity and manufacturing capability.

The construction of buildings and equipment is expected to be completed in early 1988 when the company will add 25 employees to its present work force of 50, he reported.

Jacobs Engineering of Houston will finalize plant designs by Borg-Warner and construct the additional facilities, Kowal said.

The plant manager said Jacobs will hire 200 to 300 people for two years from the Hancock County area for 'construction jobs' and advertise what skills are needed for the project.

Borg-Warner will locally publicize, probably in late 1985, what permanent job positions are available as a result of the expansion, Kowal reported.

"We're going to spend over $20 million on this facility. We will have to build warehouses and expand existing facilities to include storage tanks and silos," he explained.

Although Borg-Warner owns 205 acres at the industrial park, the expansion work will be confined to the presently developed 60 acre area, Kowal reported.

"We may have some more expansions in the future to develop that other property, but we are not ready to release that information yet," he stated.

Kowal said the expansion will not bring the plant up to its originally anticipated size, apparently reduced as a result of the recent recession, but stated, "Partially it does because it increases our capability at one end of the business."

"We've developed a whole new technology and we're putting in the latest techniques to make ABS (plastic) here," he stated.

In 1980 Borg-Warner announced plans to build a plant to employ 100 people and produce 150 million pounds of 'Cycloc brand ABS engineering thermoplastic' annually.

Coast Electric refunding $

Some 10,000 checks totaling $386,775 in capital credits refunds are being mailed this week to members of Coast Electric Power Association.

Consumers who received service from the association in 1956 through 1959 will receive the refunds.

These checks represent a refund of all capital contributed by these members through the year 1959.

Coast Electric, a cooperative owned by those it serves, retires assigned capital on a first in, first out basis.

As a member of Coast Electric, any portion of the consumer's electric bill that is not needed to pay current operating costs is considered contributed capital and is used to pay back money borrowed to build facilities to provide electric service.

Any excess not needed for these purposes is assigned to the members, an organization spokesman reported.

Each member is assigned capital credits yearly, and as the financial condition of the cooperative allows, in accordance with bylaw provisions and REA requirements, such capital is retired to the membership.

Henry Thomas, general manager, stated, "We are pleased to be in a position to retire assigned capital for this four-year period."

"This $386,775 refund represents Coast Electric's Commitment to the membership; that of operating as a non-profit entity and returning to the members in an orderly manner any margins not needed in its operations," he added.

"This makes the second year in a row that we have found ourselves in a position to make capital retirement after 15 years of being unable to do so," Thomas continued.

"During the ten years that I have served as manager of Coast Electric we have refunded to the membership more than $2,600,000 not for publicity nor as gimmicks, but as the result of a commitment by the Board of Directors, the utilization of equipment to its maximum capacity, and through the dedication of employees who believe in their jobs and their responsibility to the membership," Thomas stated.

Kowal reported the plant now produces about 80 million pounds of ABS annually in the form of clear pellets, which are about the size and shape of a pencil eraser, and ships that material to another Borg-Warner plant for coloring before it is sent to molding factories.

With the expansion, the Baymar plant will then have the capability of coloring the manufactured plastic and shipping that material directly to factories, Kowal reported.

"We will then have people (employees) here handling orders and producing more raw material," he stated.

He said the market for ABS is changing and expanding from the previous extensive use in forming passenger compartment components for automobiles.

Kowal said the Ford Motor Co. is utilizing ABS at an increasing rate for bumpers and Western Electric molds the material into telephone housings.

ABS is also being used more in the refrigeration industry and for home computer housings, he added.

James DeBlanc, executive director of the County Port and Harbor Commission which manages the industrial park, said Wednesday afternoon regarding the expansion, "We think it's wonderful."

Bay police chief replies to harassment complaints

By ELLIS CUEVAS
 On a tour of the area around the Sycamore and St. Francis Streets intersection in Bay St. Louis on Monday, Police Chief Douglas Williams pointed to some of the problems causing repeated complaints to his office.

At the intersection of St. Francis and Sycamore Streets Williams said, "Look, one of the stop signs has been completely removed, and on the other corner, the street sign has been broken down."

The tour was conducted after The Sea Coast Echo received complaints from several residents about some Bay St. Louis policemen allegedly abusing innocent black citizens.

In an interview Williams started by saying, "From day one, some 18 years ago, Mayor John Scaffide, (who is now deceased, had hired Williams and the late William Tate as the first black police officers for the City of Bay St. Louis), instructed us to do away with the gambling, drinking, littering, indecent exposures, loud talking, blocking of traffic, and a lot more uncalled for behaviors by the citizens on the streets of this city."

"Look at the number of whiskey, wine, and beer bottles on the ground on these two streets, not to mention the other debris," Williams added during a drive along the streets.

Williams continued, "I have received personal visits and telephone calls from Bay St. Louis councilmen, and numerous citizens complaining about the traffic bottlenecks, and obstruction of the sidewalks on these two streets, and it is only a portion of the two streets confined to about two blocks total, the drinking, gambling, and on and on."

"I have instructed my officers to issue citations to any persons violating the laws and ordinances of this city. Many times officers first issue warnings to citizens obstructing traffic, and some get very loud and boisterous. As policemen we have a job to do," Williams said.

"A common occurrence is for the operators of two vehicles to stop in the middle of a street, and hold a conversation blocking traffic, this is a serious violation, and citations are issued," Williams stated.

The chief continued, "Just last week several citizens were issued citations for the obstruction of traffic, and they were taken to court and fined."

"According to some citizens the area is used as a drug habitat, and this completely takes away the respect and dignity of the citizens who are living in the area," Williams emphasized.

Williams listed the number of clubs operating in the confined area. Narrow streets add to the congestion.

"Just to give you an idea of the problems which arise, on Saturday there was a person shot at a gathering on Sycamore Street outside one of the clubs in broad daylight," Williams continued.

Another problem Chief Williams talked about was the number of persons under age hanging around older citizens helping block traffic and cause congestion.

"There is a very nice park one block over on Washington Street with basketball goals, and tennis courts for young people to use, yet very few do so," Williams allowed.

Williams indicated the same rules and regulations apply to all people no matter whether they are black, brown, or white.

"We enforced the same laws on St. Francis and Sycamore Streets, as on Main Street, Beach Boulevard, Melody Lane or any other place in Bay St. Louis."

"Bay St. Louis police officers are only doing their job as requested by our superiors and citizens. And all I ask of the officers—and I say it to all the officers—is to keep our city safe and a clean place to live."

Divine Word provincial elevated to episcopate

Rev. Terry Steib of St. Augustine's Divine Word Seminary in Bay St. Louis has been elevated to the episcopate and named auxiliary to Archbishop John May of St. Louis, Mo.

Bishop-elect Steib, a native of Vacherie, La., was born May 17, 1940.

After attending Shell Mound Elementary School in Vacherie, he came to St. Augustine's in 1953 and graduated from high school there in 1957.

He then entered Divine Word Novitiate in Conesus, N.Y. and professed his first vows as a member of Divine Word Missionaries in 1959.

From 1959-61 Steib did his junior studies in Conesus, and from 1961-63 he pursued his philosophical studies at Divine Word Seminary in Techny, Ill. He received his bachelor of arts degree in philosophy in 1963.

After coming back to St. Augustine's, Steib was ordained to the priesthood on Jan. 6, 1967 by Archbishop Philip M. Hannon of New Orleans.

Steib served as assistant dean for the high school at St. Augustine's from 1967-69, and taught in the English Department at St. Stanislaus from 1967-78.

He received his master of arts degree in guidance and counseling from Xavier University in New Orleans in 1973.

In 1976-77 he served as assistant director of the National Black Catholic Clergy Caucus and was a board member of NBCCC from 1977-81.

He was diocesan consultant to the Diocese of Biloxi from 1978-81.

Steib served as chairman of the Conference of Major Superiors of Men Missionary Committee in 1978-79.

He was elected vice president of the Conference of Major Superiors of Men in 1979 and was re-elected to the post this past summer.

Steib was named provincial superior for Divine Word Missionaries Southern Province in 1976, and was re-elected in 1979 and again in 1982.

He also served on the Board of Trustees for the Divine Word College in Epworth, Iowa.

Both his parents are living, and he has two brothers and two sisters.

"St. Louis is very fortunate to receive the quality of his leadership," said Steib's former classmate, Father William Kelly, also of St. Augustine's Seminary.

School board questions fund raising policies

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
With some reservations, the Hancock County School District Board of Trustees agreed Tuesday that school fund-raising should be better regulated.

After lengthy discussion, the trustees voted to instruct district principals to draft an amended fund-raising policy for board consideration.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph told the trustees that some principals have been interpreting the current policy differently from others.

"Every time there's a fund-raiser at North Central," Randolph said, "people from the Lakeshore area complain that they haven't been able to have one."

North Central High School Principal Donald Hillman said many of the problems stem from booster clubs organized by parents outside the jurisdiction of the schools.

He said when he considered fund-raising activities for the 1983-84 school year, he had many more requests than he could approve under the current policy.

"Consequently," he said, "some requests were denied."

Some groups immediately went out and formed parent booster clubs, Hillman said.

"There's a foreign language booster club, a BETA booster club, a football booster club, a basketball booster club, and on and on ad infinitum."

Board President Monvel Cuevas said he didn't think it was right to try to stop a group of parents from trying to raise money for the school system.

"The problem is, they're selling during school hours and on the school bus," Randolph said.

"That's what we're trying to stop," Randolph said he felt many members of the general public resent the fact that they are being asked to "reach into their pockets" several times a week.

"Perhaps we'd be better off," he suggested, "if we put it into policy that a particular fund-raiser would be limited to a specific time period."

Randolph said he has received a number of complaints about the number of fund-raisers, but Cuevas said he had received complaints only about selling during school hours, and that he didn't feel that was right.

"But I don't think we should try to regulate people who are trying to help the schools," he reiterated.

"I'm afraid they'll stop raising money if we try to regulate them."

The current policy states that all fund-raising must receive prior approval from the principal and superintendent.

Each elementary school is allowed one major project per semester.

In addition, Hancock North Central High School is allowed three minor projects per semester.

The policy defines a major fund-raiser as one that involves the total school. A minor fund-raiser involves individual groups, such as band or Future Farmers of America.

The current policy also states that popularity contests or other competitive events shall not be conducted in the schools if the determination of the winner is based upon the amount of money which has been brought in by the person so chosen.

In other action, the board: —Approved Activity Fund accounts for all schools;

—Approved the purchase of a typewriter for the School Food Service Supervisor;

—Approved a contract with Gulf Coast Waste Disposal, Inc. for garbage bins at Hancock North Central;

—Accepted a $394 quotation from W. A. McDonald and Son for an electric range for Hillman's house;

—Agreed to purchase a burnisher-polisher for Hancock North Central from Quali-Chem, Inc. for $850; and —Withheld action on the Christmas holiday work schedule for maintenance personnel, janitors and bus mechanics, pending a review of schedules for prior years.

The trustees will tour the district's schools Saturday, Dec. 10, to review the facilities.

Tax collections to begin Dec. 15

Hancock County Tax Assessor Edward Murtagh will begin collecting 1983 ad valorem property taxes Dec. 15, he told the Board of Supervisors Monday morning.

About three months ago the offices of Tax Assessor and Tax Collector began staying open for business during the noon hour.

That practice will be continued, Murtagh said.

In addition, he said, for taxpayers' convenience the offices will be open between 8 a.m. and noon on Saturdays during January.

Murtagh said yesterday he has about 7,000 homestead exemption forms ready to mail just before the Christmas holidays, and he urged Hancock County residents to make any appropriate changes and return the form promptly.

In other board business Monday, Norton Haas and W. Wilson Webber urged the supervisors to invite city officials from Bay St. Louis and Waveland to participate in studying future needs in connection with any proposal for a new courthouse-jail complex.

The supervisors also:

—Agreed to provide another sheriff's deputy for guard duty at Port Blenville, to be paid from Port and Harbor Commission funds;

—Accepted the resignation of Willie Harmon of District 4 from the Hancock County Park Commission;

—Authorized the purchase of a radio for Beat 5 at the state bid price of $1,937; Rejected all bids for 1984 trucks because the bids did not conform to advertised specifications and agreed to advertise; and —Approved the claims docket.

THE IMPACT A NEW HOSPITAL WILL HAVE ON HANCOCK COUNTY...

The construction of a new hospital for Hancock County has been much in the news lately. In order to clarify many points and questions being asked by the public, the Hancock

General Hospital Board of Trustees would like to take this means to answer some of these questions.

Did You Know

1. Hancock General Hospital currently has a $5.4 million operating budget in Hancock County, and projects operating budgets of $6.5 million and $7.6 million in 1985 and 1986, respectively.

2. Hancock General currently employs 195 people, making it one of the largest employers in the county. A new facility will mean more jobs for people in Hancock County, thereby also producing more revenue for the area.

3. Hancock General pays $2.6 million in employee salaries and benefits, and projects an increase to $2.8 million and $3 million in 1985 and 1986, respectively.

4. Approximately 70% of Hancock General's employees live within Hancock County, and spend the majority of their salaries within the county. A new facility, which would create more jobs and increase salaries, would mean more revenue for the county in sales taxes, etc.

5. Hancock General has committed itself to providing its patients with the highest level of care, but also to educating the public in the prevention of illness. A new facility would afford a greater opportunity for us to expand our educational programs for the public.

6. A new facility would definitely improve the aesthetic value of Hancock County, with a modern-looking building and modern interior. It would also provide the patients with more comfortable, modern surroundings, thereby assisting them in recovering more readily.

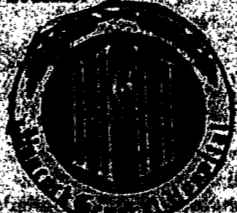

Again, our conclusion that a new facility is necessary is based on the following major reasons:

- The cost of upgrading the present facility.
- The difficulty of adding to the existing structure.
- The age of the original building and systems.

D. The potential benefits of relocating the hospital on a site which would be more accessible to the members of the community which it serves.

E. The lack of disruption of health care services during construction and renovation.

F. The impact—economically, educationally and aesthetically—on Hancock County.

NOT YOUR USUAL PET!—Freddy West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. West of Waveland, plays with the family's pet raccoon Dixie. Freddy says Dixie's favorite treat is almonds. "I'll hold a nut between my front teeth, and Dixie will take it from me real carefully." Dixie loves to play and to be petted, but allows only Freddy and his father to pick her up.

Pet raccoon amuses Waveland residents

Mrs. Etta Mitchell of Waveland will verify that want ads get results.

Thanks to Mitchell's ad in last Sunday's paper, 'Dixie' the raccoon is home again, and her owners, the Charles E. West family of 100 Old Pecan Grove in Waveland, are very happy to have her back.

In the interim, Dixie roamed free in the Sears Avenue neighborhood, entertaining both children and adults and dining on such diverse treats as catfood and grapes.

Dixie became a member of the West family last August. According to Mrs. West, Dixie has made herself quite at home.

"I think my husband has wanted a pet raccoon since the day he was born," Mrs. West said Monday.

To make good pets, raccoons must be caught and tamed when they are quite young, before they are weaned, she said.

Dixie, who is about a year old, and has been spayed, originally belonged to a woman who went to work for West last summer.

Because she enjoyed playing with children, Dixie had a habit of wandering down the street to a nearby swimming pool where the neighborhood children congregated.

Nervous parents complained, and Dixie's owner decided she had to give her away.

When she mentioned her dilemma to West, Mrs. West said, he immediately called home and asked if his daughter Mary was home.

"No," Mrs. West told him. "Is Charley (a son) there?"

"No," Mrs. West said. "Why?"

"I just wanted to know if they want a pet raccoon," West told his wife.

Only recently has Dixie been allowed some freedom outdoors.

"We made a big thing about getting her back in when she was outside," Mrs. West said. "We'd catch her with a fishing net."

But now Dixie stays outside a lot, coming back voluntarily after her forays.

"She sleeps here and there and yonder," Mrs. West said.

She is particularly fond of one of West's bureau drawers, and will open it, pull out his shirts and throw them on the floor, then curl up inside.

She also sleeps in a daughter's dresser drawer, and occasionally in a kitchen cabinet.

Mrs. West said Dixie loves dogs and children, but only her husband and one of her sons are allowed to pick Dixie up.

"If she wants to be petted, she'll jump up on the back of an armchair, meaning 'Come over and give me a little back rub.'"

Like a child, Dixie is sometimes naughty, Mrs. West said.

"She loves money. My little boy claims she picked up a five-dollar bill and we never have found it."

"She'll take a quarter and if there's water around she'll dump it in the water, play with it outside, bring it back in—we're never sure where we'll find it again."

Mrs. Mitchell verified that, saying that while Dixie was staying with her she opened Mitchell's purse and removed her wallet.

Mrs. West said the raccoon also likes to go into the bathroom and rip up all the toilet paper.

"And then when my husband comes home he'll pick her up and she'll lay in his arms and look at him like she's saying 'Now don't you believe a thing they tell you.'"

When Mrs. West picked Dixie up after her weekend adventure, she said one woman told her, "I wasted half my day with that raccoon, but I don't think I've ever had as much fun."

Quotables by Cuevas

Over 300 children resident in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County had a happy Christmas last year because of the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund.

Andrew Lizana, Bay St. Louis fire chief, is the chairman of the fund and toys are delivered by firefighters, Bay and Waveland policemen, in addition to Hancock County deputy sheriffs.

Every year the number of children's names in need of toys increases, according to Lizana.

The names of deserving children are received through the efforts of the Welfare Department and other agencies.

During the year, many toys are repaired, such as tricycles, bikes, wagons and made to look like new by firefighters.

Several merchants in the county give a special price on new toys for the Doll and Toy Fund.

If you have toys your children have out-grown, or no longer needed, possibly they can be reconditioned and made into a lovely gift for some youngster.

Any and all types of help are needed and Chief Lizana can be reached at 467-4736.

We realize the Doll and Toy Fund is an agency supported by the United Way, but, as you know, many more parents are out of work this year.

So, there will be a need for many more toys.

If you can help, we are sure it will be really appreciated.

While on the subject of giving, we would like to remind you about the Blood Drawing next Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 7 p.m. at the American Legion Home, Coleman Avenue, Waveland.

Lin Rutherford, Post 77's blood chairman reports there is a tremendous need for new donors.

Rutherford said he knows the 'regulars' will be there, but is hoping some new donors will come on Wednesday.

The Hancock County Blood Bank has been in business for many years in the county with the assistance of the American Red Cross, and has helped many of our citizens.

If you are able, we hope you will offer a unit of blood on Wednesday.

Sometimes we just wonder where time goes so fast, as Christmas is fast approaching.

A friend this week mentioned how it feels that Easter seemed to have been only a few weeks ago.

We guess it is something that goes along with age.

News from the Governor

Governor and Mrs. William Winter will host a series of Candlelight Tours of the Mississippi Governor's Mansion during the upcoming holiday season.

The tours, which are free and open to the public, will be conducted from 5-7 p.m. on Dec. 9-10 and Dec. 15-16. Refreshments will be served during the tours.

The Governor's Mansion will be decorated in a traditional 19th century Victorian theme with one Christmas tree downstairs in the Rose Parlor and one Christmas Tree upstairs in the Sitting Hall.

Other decorations will include garlands of fresh greenery and arrangements of flowers and fruit throughout the historic section of the mansion.

Music for the tours will be provided by a number of local choral groups. Time and dates for the choral groups are:

Dec. 9—5 p.m., Northwest Rankin Junior High School chorus; 6 p.m., Daniel Memorial Baptist Church Boys' chorus.

Dec. 10—6 p.m., Mississippi School for the Blind chorus.

Dec. 15—5 p.m., Forest Hill High School chorus; 6 p.m., Jack Jones Brass Ensemble.

Dec. 16—5 p.m., Clinton Junior High School chorus; 6 p.m., Marshall Elementary School chorus.

Governor William Winter has proclaimed the week of Dec. 4-10 as Autistic Children's Week in Mississippi.

In issuing the proclamation Governor Winter urged that "increased efforts be directed toward the development of a better system in our State with regard to the proper identification and treatment of these children, while also calling attention to the needs of autistic adolescents and adults who have grown up with little or no appropriate education services."

Autism (from the Greek "autos" meaning self) is a severely handicapping, life-long neurological disorder which strikes with varying degrees of severity in about 15 of every 10,000 births. It is not selective with regard to race, color, etc. For many years the disorder was mistakenly considered to be psychogenic in origin. Modern studies have soundly refuted that theory and current research points to biochemical imbalance as a very likely root cause in many instances of the disorder.

Virtually all autistic children exhibit four common characteristics:

1. Onset before the age of 30 months;
2. Delayed or deviant speech and language development;
3. Repetitive, often bizarre, behavior patterns;
4. Inability to relate well to others.

They are often described as "Handsome" in appearance and "living in their own little world."

There will be a meeting and Conference of the Mississippi Society for Autistic Children Dec. 9-10 at the Gulf Park Campus of the University of Southern Mississippi. For registration information write: Mississippi NSAC, P.O. Box 5402, Pearl, Ms 39208 or Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter NSAC, c/o Ron Bishop, 121 N. Burke Ave., Long Beach, Ms 39060.

CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHTING—Larry Bennett, right, Bay St. Louis mayor, and Jeannie Garcia, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's special events chairman and representing the City of Waveland, turn on the Christmas Tree lights Saturday at the Hancock County Courthouse. The event was sponsored by the chamber with assistance from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. A large group of youngsters placed their special requests with Santa who arrived on a Bay St. Louis fire engine escorted by police. ### Senator Thad Cochran SPECIAL REPORT:

AMTRAK APPROVAL OF COASTAL TRAIN

Senator Thad Cochran says Amtrak's Board of Directors "are to be commended for their foresight" in approving operation of daily passenger train service along the Gulf Coast to coincide with the 1984 World's Fair.

The Amtrak directors meeting in Washington approved the five-month service to operate between Mobile and New Orleans.

"This train service will not only be a convenience for those wishing to travel to the World's Fair, but will result in new economic benefits for our state," Cochran said.

The Amtrak service will operate in connection with the Louisiana-Mississippi-Alabama Rapid Rail Transit Commission which was established by Congress last year through legislation sponsored by Cochran.

Amtrak officials said the five-month service is provisional and was made possible through an agreement that allows the three states involved to share the cost of the service with Amtrak.

Funding for the states' share of the costs associated with continuing the service after Sept. 30, 1984, will be considered by the state legislatures.

Cochran had words of praise for local citizens and officials in the three states who "invested so much time and effort into seeing the project become a reality."

The train is expected to have an early morning departure from Mobile with intermediate stops in Pascagoula, Biloxi, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis.

Alcohol-related traffic crashes leading cause of teenage deaths

A great amount of publicity is generated about the leading causes of death in America. However, it is rarely publicized that the leading cause of death of young Americans between the ages of 16 and 24 is alcohol related traffic accidents.

"Alcohol related crashes are robbing us of our young people," Sidney B. Berry, commissioner of public safety, said.

"Persons in the 16 to 24 age group comprise only 20 percent of the total licensed population. They travel only 20 percent of the total number of miles driven by drivers of all ages, but they cause 42 percent of all alcohol related traffic crashes throughout the United States," he advised.

Berry's figures were released in conjunction with "National Drunk and Drugged Awareness Week" designated for December 11-17 by President Ronald Reagan and in Mississippi by Governor William Winter.

Berry said it should be alarming for Mississippians to know that young drivers are responsible for nearly half the alcohol related traffic crashes in this country.

"Residents in this state ask: 'What is Mississippi doing to combat the drinking and driving problem?' For the past four months our state troopers have been enforcing stricter driving under the influence (DUI) laws. It is still too early to tell what kind of overall effect that law, which went into effect July 1, will have on fatal accidents in the state."

Berry continued, "On November 30 the yearly fatality total on highways, county roads and city streets was four percent less than had been recorded for the same time period in 1982."

He said he believes that the reduced number of traffic deaths this far in 1983 are partly attributable to the new law.

"On roads and highways under the patrol's jurisdiction where DUI enforcement is strict, there has been a 10 percent decrease in traffic fatalities. We recorded 356 highway deaths through November 30 of 1982 and 319 through the same time period this year. DUI enforcement is up and fatalities are down," Berry said.

He asked citizens to report to the nearest law enforcement authority persons suspected of using drugs or alcohol and driving during the current holiday season.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

How can you tell your children Santa Claus was robbed?

December 6, 1983

To the Editor:

I am a recent victim of a crime in which a large number of Christmas gifts, decorations and other items were stolen from my home in the Bayside Apartments.

Bay PD Investigator Joe Pica did a good job in recovering most of the stolen items. I still have not gotten back quite a few items, however, and most of my children's Christmas toys were damaged or ruined.

I work full time but I am not in a position where I can replace the stolen items without robbing Peter to pay

Paul. I was told that if the family of the juveniles in question also don't have much money, then I would be unable to get any financial recompense. My question is "What recourse do I have?"

My children are not old enough to understand legalities and my bill collectors won't understand my loss. How can you tell your children Santa Claus was robbed?

Surely families of juvenile offenders are responsible in some way for the crimes their children commit. It seems to me that juvenile offenders should be required by law to make restitution.

Plaintiff relative reports motives in filing suit by former Coast Electric employees

Dec. 3, 1983

Letters
The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Editor:

I hope the truth prevails and justice is served on behalf of all the Coast Electric consumers and the two former employees.

This suit was filed for the Coast Electric consumers as well as for the two former employees.

Each family served by Coast Electric will receive money as a direct result of this law suit being won.

In other words, this law suit was not filed with strictly selfish motives as some may think. And so this suit will continue for the good of the consumers as well as the two former employees.

The former employees said there was a meeting at Coast Electric headquarters on Sept. 27, 1983. Present at this meeting were the association's general manager, the board of directors, the company lawyer and the two former employees with their lawyer.

The two former employees asked these gentlemen why they were fired and to show them the proof to their so-called guilt.

The former employees said they were denied this information.

The gentlemen told the two former employees that this information would only be given if they were taken to court.

So I leave you, the reader with this question: What would you do to clear your name?

Sincerely,
Charla Perronne
Bay St. Louis

Supporter of fired Coast Electric employees says suit filed to clear their names

December 6, 1983

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Should company policy be observed by all or just a few?

Why is it wrong to report violations of company policy to Coast Electric supervisors, regardless of who is making these violations?

The Clarion-Ledger on Nov. 25, 1983, stated that 15 violations of company policy were given to the Board of Directors of Coast Electric Power Association to investigate.

Since Coast Electric is owned by its consumers, they should be made aware of company violations.

It is a sad state of affairs when employees report violations and lose their jobs in the process. I think it is admirable for these employees who lost their jobs to file suit on behalf of the consumers and to clear their names.

Your truly,
Mrs. Tom Mattinson
Gulfport

Coast Electric invited suit filed by former employees, reader feels

December 6, 1983

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Is it owned by those it serves?

Regarding those two Coast Electric employees who were fired for reporting company violations—I was wondering since they are also consumers as well as "former" employees, what was so wrong?

I thought that was what Coast Electric's Board of Directors was all about, and Coast Electric is suppose to have an "open door" policy.

Sounds like it slammed shut on those two employees!

Since these former employees were informed that the only way they could see the statements against them or face their accusers was in a court of law, sounds like Coast Electric did indeed invite a law suit.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Walter Saucier
Bay St. Louis

USM professor co-edits management plan for menhaden industry

Dr. David J. Etzold, University of Southern Mississippi professor of management, has co-edited a management plan for the Gulf of Mexico menhaden industry.

In 1982, gulf menhaden amounted to 30 percent of total US landings of fish and shellfish, making it the largest in volume of landings in the country.

"The Menhaden Fishery of the Gulf of Mexico, United States: A Regional Management Plan," was published by Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission in September.

The document is a cooperative effort of the five Gulf of Mexico states, the federal government, universities and the menhaden industry.

The plan is designed to allow an annual maximum harvest which will not exceed the biological breakeven point.

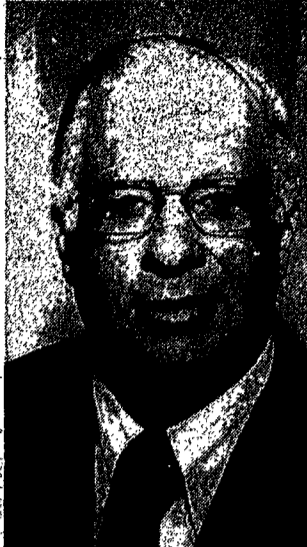

Gulf menhaden range from the Yucatan peninsula in Mexico to the mouth of the Mississippi River, and from Texas to Florida.

The highest density is in the north central Gulf. Landings at Gulf of Mexico ports have exceeded one billion pounds each year since 1971.

Menhaden yields three products: fish meal, fish oil and condensed fish solubles. Three of the 11 processing plants are located in Moss Point.

The meal is used as animal feed in the broiler industry and as swine feed. Feeds for catfish, trout, salmon and shrimp also contain menhaden meal.

The oil is used as an edible product in Europe and as a component in marine lubricants in the US.

Dr. Etzold was also chief planner on a one-year project in which Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas marine fisheries agencies, the National Marine Fisheries Service, the menhaden industry and the Gulf States Marine Fishers Commission cooperated.

Vo-Tech Board issues training equipment manual

The State Board of Vocational-Technical Education recently approved a set of policies and procedures designed to regulate the use of training equipment.

The Equipment Management System Policies and Procedures Manual directs state and local administrators and instructors in the proper use and inventory of approximately $50 million worth of vo-tech equipment at centers throughout the state.

Equipment governed by these new regulations is owned by the State Department of Education, Vocational-Technical Division.

The manual will be mailed in November to all vocational-technical center directors, school, district superintendents and junior college presidents.

ETV Brief

TRIBUTE TO CALLAS

The late Maria Callas, considered by many to be opera's only "prima donna assoluta" of this century, is paid tribute on the 60th anniversary of her birth on "Great Performances" at 8:05 p.m. Monday, Dec. 12 on the Mississippi ETV Network.

The program is delayed by five minutes for special fund raising programming at other PBS stations.

The two-hour program, "An International Tribute to Maria Callas," will be seen live in Europe on Dec. 11 and aired in the United States on PBS the following evening.

More than a dozen of the world's greatest opera singers and conductors will perform in the telecast, which will originate from Milan's La Scala, Paris' L'Opera, London's Covent Garden and the Lyric Opera of Chicago, where Callas made her American debut on Nov. 1, 1954.

Among the participants will be Placido Domingo, Ileana Cotrubas, Renata Scotta and Kiri Te Kanawa.

Girl Scouts to present "Snow White" at Bay Little Theatre

Girl Scout Troop No. 27 will present "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" Dec. 16 at 8:15 p.m. and Dec. 18 at 2:30 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre on Boardman Avenue.

Jessie Braham White's play is based on the fairy tale by the Brothers Grimm.

In the lead role of Snow White is Jennifer Burrows of Pearlinton.

Supporting her will be Dee Ferrell of Waveland and Bahiyah Schwabacher of Bay St. Louis as the witch Hex.

Portraying the seven dwarfs are Shasta Williams, Katie Cuevas, Karen Ladner, Lauri Gagnon, Jacquie Dorlon and Cherie Dalon, all of Bay St. Louis, and Bethany Burrows of Pearlinton.

The play opens in the palace when Snow White's maids of honor are preparing for a visit from the Prince.

The maids of honor are Gina Parillo and Tori Kimbrell, both of Bay St. Louis; Melinda Miller, Allison Miller and Stacie Hinkkanen of Waveland; and Shannon York of Kiln.

The role of the prince will be played by Ted Holmes.

The queen, angered at the prince's interest in Snow White, commands her huntsman, Sabrina Kersanac of Bay St. Louis, to kill her Snow White.

From here on, the familiar story unfolds until its happy ending with Snow White betrothed to the prince.

The play is directed by Little Theatre veteran Alice Holmes.

Technical director is Kristen Frankiewicz. Set design is by Elizabeth Holmes.

Stage manager is Leigh Jones of Diamondhead.

Tickets are available from troop members or at the door. Admission price is $2 for adults and $1 for students through high school.

Persons interested in group rates should contact Alice Holmes at 467-3710.

Girl Scout Troop No. 27 is sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

JSU president chosen for task force

Jackson State University President John A. Peoples Jr. is serving on the Minority Institutions Science Improvement Program (MISIP) task force sponsored by the US Department of Education.

As a task force member Peoples and five other task force appointees will provide advice and recommendations to the Department of Education to facilitate minority science education programs and provide access for minorities to institutions of higher education.

"My selection and service on the MISIP task force inicates the high regard that federal funding agencies have for the JSU administration and faculty," Peoples said.

"Through this position I can help make decisions regarding the kind of funding needed and the institutions that can make the best use of these funds in carrying out the MISIP program."

Peoples also pointed out that the MISIP program enables the resources of colleges and universities to be applied to the problem of low minority participation in science and engineering careers.

"This program allows us to use our teaching faculty and laboratories to augment high school teaching and to bring high school students to our campuses to improve their performance in science and mathematics," he said.

Last year the MISIP program distributed $4.8 million to 39 institutions of higher learning in the United States. Since 1977, Jackson State University has received $272,696 in MISIP funds. The most recent grant was $44,000 to the university's chemistry department to assist with the incorporation of computer application to chemistry laboratory courses.

Other members of the MISIP task force are chairman Dr. William Harvey, president of Hampton Institute; Dr. Manuel Beriozabal, professor mathematics at the University of Texas at San Antonio; Dr. Maria de Los A. Ortiz de Leon, chancellor of the Inter American University of Puerto Rico; and Dr. John Slaughter, chancellor of the University of Maryland-College Park.

PRC Singers to star at 1984 World's Fair

The Pearl River College Singers, PRC's select choral ensemble, has been chosen to perform for the 1984 Louisiana World's Exposition in New Orleans.

The announcement was made at recent Homecoming activities on the PRC campus by Dr. Larry Newell, chairman of the Department of Music and director of choral activities.

Performance date at the World's Fair will be Oct. 1984. Barnett Lipman, director of entertainment productions for the World's Fair, said, "We receive many applications from schools across the United States. You are to be congratulated on the quality of your performance as demonstrated by the audition materials which you submitted."

"We enthusiastically look forward to your performance at the 1984 World's Fair."

Dr. Newell said the PRC Singers are excited about this honor and feel the World's Fair appearance will enhance an already-growing reputation as a well-disciplined musical choral ensemble.

Real estate licenses due for renewal

The Mississippi Real Estate Commission reminds Mississippi real estate license holders that all real estate licenses must be renewed before Dec. 31, 1983.

Commission Chairman A. E. Barksdale of West Point notes that license renewal applies to both active and inactive licenses.

He said that renewal notices were mailed two weeks ago to the state's 10,000 licensees. "A number of these notices were returned because licensees moved and left no forwarding address," said Barksdale.

Those who did not receive a renewal notice should contact the Real Estate Commission for another form.

The commission's telephone number in Jackson is 962-6300.

IT'S NOT A ROCKET BOOSTER—No, a Space Shuttle booster rocket did not wash up on the beach near the intersection of Lady Mary Avenue and US-90 just west of the Pass Christian corporate limits, but this section of dredge pipe welded to three pontoons did. The 'Moonrise in Atlantis' photograph on the front page is an 'inside' view of the pipe mouth which appears as a horizon, rust flakes form an imaginary shoreline and the opening at far end creates the full moon illusion. Jim Hanley, State Wildlife Conservation Commission Bureau of Marine Resources Law Enforcement Division assistant chief, said Wednesday that the pipe section belongs to a company dredging the Gulfport Channel. He said the pipe apparently broke away from the dredging operation and the company will either tow away or cut up the device for removal under supervision of the BMR. Cliff Roberts, a BMR conservation officer, said Monday that the beached structure was reported to the bureau on Saturday. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

"We've been waiting for this for some time now and this represents a cooperative effort between Borg-Warner and the county," he stated.

DeBlanc said Borg-Warner officials were initially concerned regarding the reliability of the water system and rail line at Port Bienville, but that all of these problems have been resolved.

He noted an automatic switching system has been installed on the industrial park's water tower so it automatically fills when the level in the elevated tank is low and a contractor now performs monthly inspections on the Port-Bienville Short Line Railroad to insure the tracks and locomotive are maintained.

"We're ready for them," DeBlanc remarked in reference to the $20 million Borg-Warner addition.

"Those who are at war with others are not at peace with themselves."

Engineer brings estimates, but

Mayor delays Waveland renovation proposals

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Mayor John Longo of Waveland at a Tuesday night City Board of Aldermen meeting directed a representative of the city's engineering firm to delay presentation of refined estimates for building renovation projects until January.

At a previous board meeting, the feasibility of almost $1 million in city building renovation projects supported by an approximate 15 percent property tax hike was discussed.

Ray Eaton of Lewis-Eaton Partnership of Jackson, Waveland's engineering firm, outlined the cost of five projects which would result in a 20 percent tax increase.

But Longo recommended two of the proposed projects be stricken from the list and directed Eaton to refine estimates for the remaining projects which include reconstruction of the roof and renovating the City Civic Center at a cost of $476,000; City Hall renovation at $106,000; and re-roofing the original portion of the recently expanded Waveland Library at $36,000.

At the Tuesday night meeting, Eaton said he was ready to present his refined estimates to the board.

But Longo told Eaton, "We will have to wait until January. We have some other thoughts about this and we may seek other funding alternatives."

The aldermen also tabled an ordinance which would allow an increase of the freight train speed limit on the Seaboard System Railroad, which crosses the city east to west, from 35 to 45 miles per hour.

Bob Hubbard, an alderman, said he understood an Amtrak passenger train planned for the SSR line in conjunction with the 1984 New Orleans World's Fair would stop in Waveland, but that recent news reports quoted a Washington, D.C. official as saying the only Hancock County stop will be in Bay St. Louis.

Longo stated, "I'd hate to think a train would crank up to 45 m.p.h. through the city. We'd either have to slow them down or stop them."

Herman Yarborough, an alderman and city utility department superintendent, recommended the city again submit its request made three years ago for the rail line company to clear trees and debris from its drainage ditches north of the tracks.

Lucian Gex, city attorney, reported the speed limit for passenger trains is already 45, but the freight train limit is 35 m.p.h.

Longo said he would invite A.A. (Dolph) Keller, County Board of Supervisors president and District Two supervisor, and Bert Courrege, District One supervisor, to the next aldermen meeting to discuss installation of five electric railroad crossing signals in the city.

The mayor estimated the purchase and installation of the five crossing signal sets would cost some $40,000.

Longo said the faster moving trains might be hazardous to motorists unless the new signals are installed.

Louie Smolensky, an alderman, recommended the board table action regarding the ordinance and stated, "I thought we agreed to get the crossings whether a station is here or not?"

The mayor said the Amtrak train stop announcement "could be an oversight" and said the board would discuss the matter with Delmer Wilcox of Waveland, a member of the Tri-States Rail Commission.

Regarding the city's new water tower near US-90, the aldermen approved a recommendation by Eaton and Gex to issue a certificate of substantial completion to Taylor Iron Works and Supply Co. of Macon, Ga., the contractor for the tower construction project.

However, Gex recommended $1,750 be deducted from the city's final payment to Taylor for clay gravel which the company did not place at the base of the tower and $25 for a "valve box" which was not installed.

He also reported the Farmer's Home Administration, which provided an almost $1 million loan for city water system improvements, cited two minor deficiencies in the tower erection project.

Gex listed apparent unpaid bills from some of Taylor's local subcontractors and suppliers which include Waveland Welding Supply, Inc. at $685; B and G Crane Service, Inc. at $13,565; Crown Equipment Co. at $2,099; and Southland Contracting, Inc. at $38,123.

In addition the city is claiming $24,150 in liquidated damages against Taylor for delay of project completion which represents a rate of $150 daily, the city attorney reported.

Gex said Southland has filed a lawsuit against Taylor which includes Waveland as a defendant since the tower is for the city.

The city attorney said Waveland might also file a lawsuit against Taylor to recover the liquidated damages which could only be utilized for city water system extensions.

The aldermen also authorized final payments in the project to Lewis-Eaton in the amount of $5,071 for professional services and Thewatt Construction Co. of Jackson for $34,431—both for water system improvements.

POINT OF LAW

Mississippi State Bar

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your legal rights.)

Q: I received the final bill for some merchandise we recently purchased and paid for it with a check marked "Paid in Full." The store cashed my check, but the following month sent another bill for payment. Am I legally expected to pay the "second bill"? What can I do to make sure this will not give me bad credit?

A: It appears that in your situation, you did pay the account in full, and therefore, your debt would be discharged even without the notation, "Paid in Full." Your cancelled check will serve as evidence of the discharge of your obligation. You should contact the store where you bought the goods, and produce the cancelled check. That should clear up any misunderstanding or mistake.

Q: My husband and I were divorced after fifteen years of marriage. He was ordered to pay me alimony for five years, but he has not. Can he be arrested for failure to pay alimony?

A: If he is under an order of court to pay alimony, and he has the ability to pay, failure to pay the alimony could expose him to contempt of court proceedings. Once found in contempt, he may be put in jail. Since there is usually no structured sentence imposed, the court may keep him in jail for as long as it takes to convince him that he should pay the alimony.

With the holiday party tempo picking up, thoughts turn to quickly made but different and tasty dips and spreads to offer guests, and to keep on hand for impromptu gatherings.

One of the tastiest is Swiss vegetable dip, sure to find favor with just about everyone. Helen Greer introduced me to it at a recent Wine and Cheese party given by the Friends of the Pass Christian Library, and, of course, I immediately requested the recipe. Here's

SWISS VEGETABLE DIP
2 cups sour cream
2 cups mayonnaise
1 pkg. Knorr (dry) Swiss Vegetable Soup mix
3 green onions, chopped fine
1 can water chestnuts, diced
1 pkg. frozen chopped spinach, drained and drained, and diced
Dashes of cayenne and hot pepper sauce

This is one of those dips best made a day ahead, so that the flavors are well married. And it's so simple, just mix all the ingredients together well, refrigerate overnight in bowl.

Helen served the dip in a hollowed out loaf of bread, using the surplus bread, cubed, as dippers. When I made it for our family Thanksgiving feast, I couldn't find rye or a sourdough loaf, so I hollowed out a small cabbage, spreading the outer leaves on the plate, and served crackers with it.

Raw vegetable sticks or flowerets are also good as dippers; and the dip itself is delicious as a topping for baked potatoes or lettuce wedges.

The dip mix contains dehydrated carrots, tomatoes, celery, cabbage and green onions, among other things...so I'm thinking of experimenting with green onions, etc., to make it fresh from scratch.

Another easily made dip is:

ARTICHOKE DIP
1 can of artichoke hearts, drained and mashed well
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Mix all together, put in lightly buttered shallow baking dish or pie pan bake at 350° for about 20 to 30 minutes. Serve with wheat crackers. This has somewhat of a crabmeat taste, believe it or not!

(Copyright, 1983, Katharine D.M. Caire).

Rep. Compretta to address chamber coffee

State Representative J. P. Compretta will be guest speaker at Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition Coffee Thursday, Dec. 15.

The event will begin at 7:30 a.m. in the Mississippi Room adjacent to the Fairway Villa Motel, Diamondhead.

Compretta, a native of Bay St. Louis, holds degrees from the University of Southern Mississippi and the Jackson School of Law.

He is a member of the Mississippi State Bar and is in private practice in Bay St. Louis.

He served as Hancock County's prosecuting attorney from 1974-1976.

Compretta was elected to the Mississippi House of Representatives in 1976, and was re-elected to a third term in 1983.

He serves on the House Ways and Means, Education, Judiciary and Conservation and Water Resources committees.

He is married to the former Kay Dorich and they have four children.

This month's event will be sponsored by the Hancock County Farm Insurance Agency.

Library Friends turn out in record numbers to honor Norton Haas

By Joe Pilet
Coordinator

Friends of the Library
Last Thursday evening the largest number on record were in attendance when Norton Haas Recognition Day, sponsored by Friends of the Library, met to honor Hancock County's foremost patriotic, civic and religious leader.

Judge J. Ruble Griffin, served as master of ceremonies and early in the program read a proclamation issued by Larry J. Bennett, mayor of Bay St. Louis.

John Longo, mayor of Waveland, presented Haas with a certificate making him an honorary citizen of Waveland.

Others who paid tribute included Chief of Police Douglas Williams, Louis Fernandez representing Hancock County Historical Society; Louis Breaux of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce; and Paul Lewis, a friend of long standing.

Edgar Perez, editor of the Sea Coast Echo, presented Haas with an album called "Feelings" in which many persons had penned sentiments about Haas activities and leadership in organizations too numerous to mention.

Griffin, in a resume called "This is your Life, Norton Haas," recalled Haas birth in the Kiln Community, his school days at St. Stanislaus, family life, and leadership in such important developments as Port and Harbor, Rivers and Harbors Association of Mississippi, Hancock County Election Commission and others.

It was also said that Haas now heads the United Way project in Hancock County and is on the New Orleans Area Council Boy Scouts of America.

A beautiful flag of the United States was presented to the library on behalf of Roy Baxter to honor Haas by Judge Griffin.

It will be flown on special days designated by Haas.

Visibly moved by these gestures of appreciation, Haas, in an acceptance speech, assured the group of his confidence in our country's future.

"We should all go home tonight, get on our knees and thank God for our beautiful country—with freedoms of which no other nation can boast."

Carrying out the holiday theme, Darleen Underwood who directs the Hancock County Extension service, displayed an impressive array of Christmas ornaments and wreaths made of such local materials as corn shucks, shells, mosses, and dried vines and flowers. The items may be seen in the library display case through December.

Dressed in cheerful red and white striped vests, and wearing perky red bows at the throat, a 35 member choir under the direction of Mary Howard of Our Lady's Academy entertained with a group of carols including choir, ensemble and sextet groupings.

A slender and generous Santa danced in, tossing candy canes to the delight of children in the audience. A sing-a-long followed with selections said to be favorites of Haas.

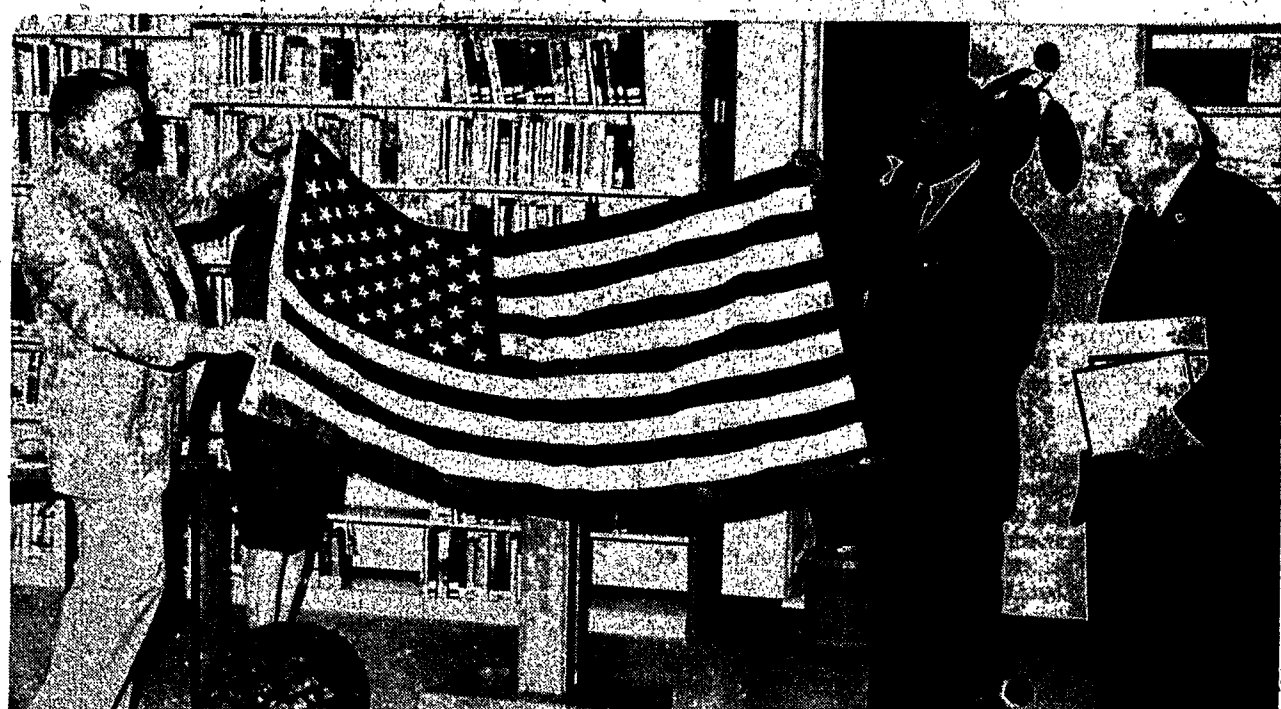

The Crawford Memorial Room of the library was used by the hostesses of the Junior Auxiliary for the Haas reception.

Mrs. Mike Necaise and Miss Martha Van Peski served punch.

The tea table, overlaid with a lace cloth and decorated with cut glass containers, tall green tapers and an assortment of camellias enhanced this special occasion which was attended by many close relatives of the honoree.

MAFT board opposes Reform Act changes

The executive board of the Mississippi American Federation of Teachers has voted unanimously to oppose any changes in the Mississippi Education Reform Act of 1982 that would delete or minimize competency requirements for students.

The Act now requires that beginning with the 1984-85 school year, school boards establish minimum graduation requirements that include achievement of 11th grade performance standards in reading, writing and mathematics.

The law also requires that minimum performance tests be given in grades three, five, eight and 11.

MAFT board members took action at a recent regular monthly meeting after discussing efforts by Mississippi Department of Education officials to have the competency tests provision deleted by the legislature during the 1984 session.

According to MAFT officials, mastery of specific competencies is one of the stronger parts of the Reform Act, placing students on notice that they are expected to attain a certain level of achievement before they can move on to the next grade level or obtain a graduation diploma.

An MAFT survey of teachers on the Accountability and Instructional Management (AIM) program last year indicated strong support for establishing competencies for student achievement as a determinant for progression through the grades and for graduation.

MAFT officials feel this delay in implementing such competencies would impede education progress in Mississippi.

MAFT is the only teacher organization in the state affiliated with AFL-CIO.

Sleigh impractical, Santa to use boat

Santa Claus will come to Pass Christian by boat Saturday, Dec. 17, arriving at the Pass Christian Yacht Club about 10 a.m.

A Christmas parade will be held afterwards, with Santa Claus riding a fire engine.

The parade will leave the yacht club and head west on Scenic Drive to Miramar Lodge Nursing Home.

After a stop there, paraders will drive through the nursing home parking lot to Second Street, head east and wind through the city along Market, Davis and Fleitas Avenues to War Memorial Park.

The parade will then go east on Second Street to Menage Avenue for a stop at Dixie White House Nursing Home.

Finally, the parade will return to North Street and go to Camille Village housing project.

After the parade, Christmas presents will be distributed at the housing project to underprivileged children of the community.

The distribution is sponsored annually by the Pass Christian Rotary Club.

Local realtors pass broker's exam

Carl Calvin Hodges of Bay St. Louis and Elizabeth D. Smith of Pass Christian have passed recent real estate broker's examinations and are eligible to practice in the profession as brokers, according to Harry J. Joachim of Biloxi, 5th Congressional District member of the Mississippi Real Estate Commission.

Hodges and Smith were two of the 54 successful candidates among 79 applicants who took the examination.

Also, Susan W. Svehlak of Picayune passed the real estate salesman's examination and is eligible to practice in the real estate profession as a salesperson.

She was among the 77 successful candidates out of 85 present for the salesman's examination.

Growing Child

"I'll beat up whoever tries to break into my house," said Johnny when asked why he kept a shoe in one hand as he watched television every afternoon.

Johnny is a sixth grader whose Mom and Dad both work outside the home. When Johnny gets home from school each day, there is nobody there to greet him, so he takes the key that is tied around his neck and opens the front door.

Johnny is one of two million 'latchkey children' who come home to an empty house.

There has been a dramatic increase in recent years in the number of single parent homes and two paycheck families. And the prediction is that these numbers will grow, with two out of every three mothers expected to work outside the home by the end of this decade.

Here are some pointers from 'Growing Up,' the newsletter for parents of school age children, to keep 'latchkey children' as safe and secure as possible.

Some parents have been successful in persuading local school officials to offer after-school programs such as crafts, sports, or hobbies for children whose parents aren't home after school. These programs are generally staffed by teacher aides and others. Parents provide the financial support.

For children who spend the afternoon hours at home alone, it is wise for parents to make a routine telephone call each day to make sure all is well.

Children should be given a specific set of tasks to perform rather than be left to their own devices. Depending on their age, children can be responsible for starting dinner, doing a load of laundry or vacuuming a room.

Strangers who call on the telephone should not be told that there is not an adult in the house.

The door of the house should never be opened to a stranger.

A family pet in the house can help provide companionship for the child.

Once parents return home, they should take a few uninterrupted moments to interact with their child.

These recommendations will alleviate some of the problems of latchkey children — and provide some peace of mind to parents who are concerned about their children's welfare.

'Growing Up' is a newsletter for parents of school-age children. For more information, write to Growing Up, P. O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902.

FARMWEEK FINALE

Highlights of Mississippi's year in agriculture are the focus of "Farmweek's" final program of the year at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 19, on the Mississippi ETV.

Stories include the effects of flooding and droughts and the implementation of the Payment-In-Kind (PIK) program in the state.

Weather forecasts, farm news, market reports, advice for farmers and notification of upcoming agricultural events are included on each edition of "Farmweek," which is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. The series resumes its weekly broadcasts on Monday, Jan. 9, at 7:30 p.m.

day program of gospel music and spirituals at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 14 on the Mississippi ETV Network.

The Howard University Choir and a group of other young artists will perform under the baton of music director Howard Roberts.

The program traces the roots of black religious music from the early slave song "Steal Away" to such classics as "Didn't It Rain" and "Let My People Go." Leontyne Price, who is serving as host for this season of "In Performance at the White House," sings "His Name So Sweet" and "Go Tell It on the Mountain." She joins the choir in singing "Amazing Grace."

Bay, Pass sailors campaign for U.S. Olympic Team slot

The sailing team of Dennis Stieffel and Randy Santa Cruz of Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and Jeff Wittmann of Pass Christian Yacht Club is campaigning for a place on the 1984 United States Olympic Sailing Team and ultimately for a Gold Medal in the Soling Class.

The trio are all members of Gulf Yachting Association.

The Olympic sailing events will take place in the United States at Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, Long Beach, Calif. as a part of the 1984 Summer Olympic Games.

Thirty boats or teams which will have previously qualified in either of two open elimination events will compete in the U.S. Olympic Sailing Trials for the Soling Class, a seven race series at Long Beach, May 12-25.

The winner will represent the United States in the 1984 Summer Olympic Games.

The first of the open elimination events will be sailed at St. Petersburg, Fla. in March where 20 boats or teams will qualify for the trials.

The other elimination will be on the West Coast and will qualify ten more teams in April at Long Beach.

The Stieffel-Santa Cruz-Wittmann campaign plans include participation in both of the open elimination events in their effort to qualify for the U.S. Olympic Trials in May.

If their efforts are successful in the eliminations, they will concentrate their primary efforts and resources to winning a place on the United States Olympic Sailing Team at the trials in May.

Their campaign also includes extensive fund raising efforts. It will include daily practice and training consisting of physical training, strategy, tactics and many hours of practice sailing to perfect their boat, equipment and boat speed.

They plan to spend a reasonable amount of time practicing in the areas where the eliminations and trials will be held, to learn about the waters, currents, winds and weather patterns in those areas.

They also plan to attend several sailing clinics, rules seminars and as many Soling regattas as will be practical and feasible between now and the elimination events.

There are seven Olympic classes of sail boats designated to compete in the 1984 Olympic Games.

The Soling was designed in 1962 by a Norwegian sail boat designer named Jan Herman Linde with the Olympics in mind and the boat was adopted by the International Yacht Racing Union in 1968 to be used in the Olympics for the first time in the 1972 Olympic Games.

The Soling is a high performance, one design, three-man, keelboat, 27 feet long, weighing approximately 2,284 pounds, using a main, jib and spinnaker in its sail plan.

The local team recently took delivery of a new, fully equipped Soling acquired from Abbott Boats Limited of Sarnia, Canada.

The boat is owned by Commodore Edgar W. Santa Cruz Jr. of Bay St. Louis and the use of the boat has been contributed to the team for their campaign for the Olympic Gold in 1984.

A fund raising Olympic Kick-Off Party was staged at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club on Dec. 3.

Contributions to the group can be made in the form of a tax deductible check payable to the tax exempt Olympic Sailing Association.

Non-deductible direct contributions may be made to the 1984 Olympic Sailing Campaign Fund.

All contributions may be mailed to Post Office Drawer 231, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

The fund raising activities at this time are primarily directed toward helping the team with travel, lodging and other necessary campaign expenses.

Annual 6.4 mile Hancock Bank run slated Dec. 17

Hancock Bank will conduct its third annual 6.4-mile 'Pass to Bay Winter Run' Saturday, Dec. 17.

The event will be conducted by Gulf Coast Running Club with trophies to be awarded to overall male and female winners as well as to the first three finishers in each of 17 divisions.

Staging area for the 9 a.m. start is War Memorial Park on Scenic Drive, Pass Christian. Race course will take the runners west along Scenic Drive and US-90, across the Bay of St. Louis Bridge, south onto Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis to the finish at Hancock Bank's Bay Branch at Main Street.

Runners will be provided free transportation back to the start. Running shoes will be awarded on a draw and all entrants will receive tee-shirts.

Previous overall winners and their times include Robert Abruscato, 32:32, and Susann Pierce, 40:20, 1981; and Richard Mantooth, 33:01, and Ginny Hornberger, 41:09, 1982.

Age divisions include men 14 and under, 15-18, 19-24, 25-29, 30-34, 35-39, 40-44, 45-49, 50-54, 55-59, and 60 and over; women, 18 and under, 19-24, 25-29, 30-35, 35-39, and 40 and over. Early registration fee is $5 if postmarked no later than Dec. 12.

Fee for race day registration, to be conducted between 7:30 to 8:45 a.m., will be $6.

Checks may be made to Gulf Coast Running Club. Mail to POB 2822, Gulfport, MS, 39503.

Registration forms may be obtained at any Hancock Bank.

Duck season opens Saturday

DUCK DAYS: Dec. 10, 11. Mississippi's first waterfowl season will get off the ground next weekend, even though it will be a short one. The season opens Saturday, Dec. 10, and extends through Dec. 11, according to the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

At the same time there will be a brief two-day hunting season on Canada Geese within the Sardis Reservoir Zone only in north Mississippi. The dates are Dec. 10 and 11.

The second duck season opens Dec. 15, and the second goose season in the Sardis Zone opens Dec. 14.

Mississippi duck hunters will be harvesting waterfowl this year using a point system that allows hunters a legal daily limit of birds worth 100 points. The limit is reached when the last bird taken and added to the birds in the bag reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit is two legal daily limits, except on opening day.

Birds this year worth 100 points are: black duck and canvasback. Ducks valued at 70 points are: female mallard, redhead, wood duck, hooded merganser.

Waterfowl worth 25 points are: male mallard, mottled duck, ring-necked duck, all ducks not specifically listed here.

The following are 10 point ducks: pintail, gadwall, teal, shoveler, scaup, mergansers (except hooded), widgion.

Shooting hours for waterfowl are one-half hour before sunrise until sunset. Various state waterfowl shooting areas and inland reservoirs have varying hours.

State enforcement authorities are reminding hunters that they should have their shotguns plugged and incapable of holding more than three shells at one loading.

Hunters 16 years of age and over are required to purchase a $7.50 federal duck stamp. In addition, hunters between 16 and 65 must have a $2 state duck stamp.

A valid hunting license is also necessary. Resident hunters will find that they can hunt ducks and geese with either the $25 sportsman's license, the $13 all game hunting and fishing license, the $9 small game hunting and fishing license, or the $6 small game license.

State conservation officials are asking hunters this year to be especially careful. The black duck is a 100 point bird.

According to the Department of Wildlife Conservation the black duck has been declining in population for more than 20 years. The duck, which looks much like the female mallard, is often found together in large concentrations of mallards.

LAFITTE THE ALLIGATOR, the University of New Orleans' new mascot, says bayous aren't for him, not when he can enjoy the Olympic-size pool in the new UNO Lakefront Arena. Lafitte was introduced to the public in the arena Saturday, Nov. 26 during the opening game (UNO/LSU) of UNO's Silver Anniversary basketball season.

IT'S A TIE—Referee Ron Meyers whistles for a draw in the contest between Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, left, and Gulfport businessman Patrick McCaffrey on the 'Monster' arm wrestling machine. Meyers holds an exclusive franchise for use of the unique sporting device in Mississippi and is promoting tournament nights in Gulf Coast night spots.

The 'Monster' is also available to groups and organizations for special events, Meyers added. Meyers said the 'Monster' provides the safest and fairest method yet devised to conduct the time-honored arm wrestling contest. ## Bay-Waveland Tire bests Long Beach in soccer play

Bay-Waveland Tire hosted an Under-14 team from Long Beach in a post-season encounter Saturday.

The home team played well in posting a 5-2 victory.

Then Hancock Bank (Select) played a doubleheader first against the Slidell "A" team and then the Slidell "B" team.

In the first game it was all Slidell in a 7-0 romp.

However, in the second game the home team fared better as Shane Kowalski opened the scoring on a nice crossing pass. The final score was 1-1.

This weekend Bay-Waveland Tire, Gulf Coast Waste and Picayune will play a round-robin match on Saturday.

The game times will be 11 a.m., Bay-Waveland Tire vs. Picayune; 12:30 p.m., Gulf Coast Waste vs. Picayune; 2 p.m., Bay-Waveland Tire vs. Gulf Coast Waste.

Tuesday, Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. the Bay Area Youth Soccer Board of Directors will meet at Virginia Hall, Christ Episcopal Church to plan for the spring competitive season.

Any youth who have not yet signed up for soccer this year and who would still like to play will have the opportunity in the spring.

The winners of the spring competitions will go on to participate in district tournaments at the end of the season.

Pass USCG Auxiliary elects

Dick Stewart has been elected commander of Flotilla 35, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Pass Christian and Edson Wilcox was elected vice-commander. They will serve one year.

Fred Ames, division captain, conducted the election.

Flotilla 35 was commended for its participation in safety patrols during the recent Chrysler Lasser World Championship races at the Gulfport Yacht Club.

TROUBLE SLEEPING

You often hear about people having trouble getting to sleep at night. If you are one of those persons who toss and turn for what seems like hours before getting to sleep, you can't always blame that cup of coffee. And you have probably learned that counting sheep doesn't help much. It may be that the trouble stems from the fact that your nervous system is overactive. Then begin to contract these muscles and relax them, and do the same to the feet, legs, arms, stomach muscles, etc. This way relaxing and sleep may come more quickly than if you think about it. If you are still nervous, jittery and tense and you are not able to relax, a Chiropractic examination and spinal adjustments may be indicated.

The Sea Coast Echo Book Review

Nature Tales That Teach and Entertain:
Ranger Rick's Storybook
Escape to the frozen tundra, home of wolverines and polar bears—to the mountains of Quebec where maple trees are tapped for syrup—to the imaginary town of Here and There where red "buddies" bloom on vines.

Ranger Rick's Storybook offers children a rich and inviting selection of stories that do more than entertain. They teach as well—about wildlife, about ecology, about all of nature—and the fascinating text is accompanied by lush color illustrations.

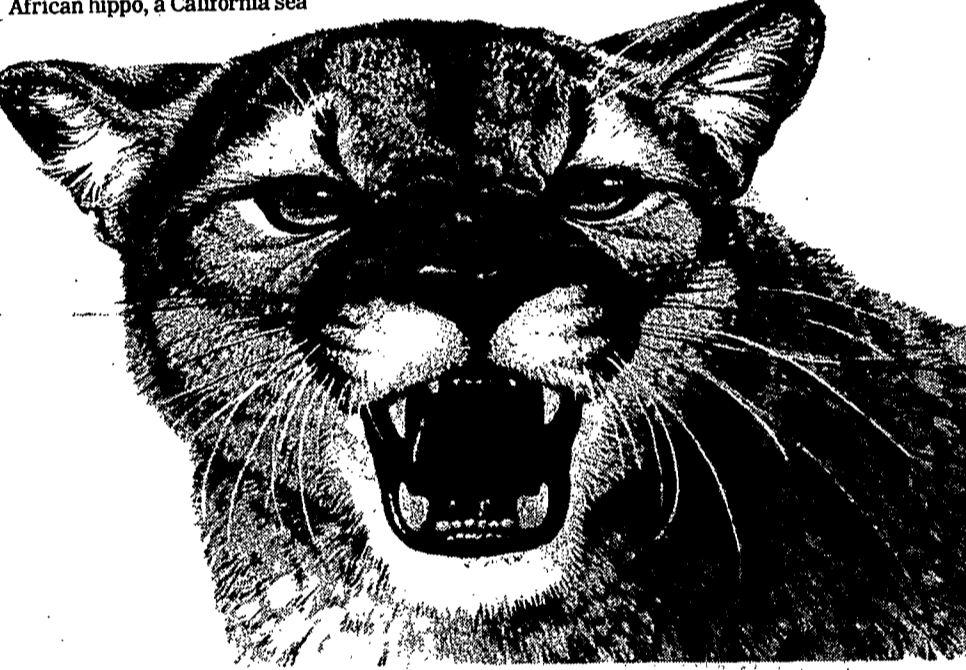

This new hardcover book, published by the National Wildlife Federation, is written for children of ages 5 to 12, but wildlife lovers of all ages will find it fascinating and informative. Its 96 pages contain 27 stories that tell about a rich variety of wild animals, from unfamiliar creatures in distant lands to familiar ones in our own backyards.

For instance, are cougars really "killer cats" who slaughter for fun? No, according to "Cougars, The Ghost Cat," which explains that the animal is simply another predator that must kill to live. Cougars once had the largest range of any American mammal—from southern Canada to the tip of South America, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Now the big cats survive only in the wilderness, in the West, and in the Florida Everglades.

Another Florida resident in "Ranger Rick's Storybook," is "Trash Masher"—a 10-foot alligator that devours chunks of drifting wood, floating cans and bottles, and even rocks.

Ranger Rick's Storybook takes children and adults alike on real and fanciful adventures. Among the fascinating characters brought to life are a long-eared owl, a South African hippo, a California sea

Head lice problem drops in Bay area

By NAN PATTON
ENRBRIGHT

Although the Mississippi State Department of Health reports that head lice in the classroom is a growing problem statewide, the consensus of local school officials is that the problem is perhaps less severe this year than it has been in the past.

Evelyn Jacob, school nurse for Hancock County School

tary students in Hancock County Schools are checked regularly for head lice.

All the elementary students were checked the second day of school, and spot checks are made of some classes every week.

All Hancock elementary students will be checked again after Christmas.

Hancock Superintendent Terrell Randolph noted there

The letter describes symptoms and treatment.

Infested children are sent home for treatment through the application of medication, and are not allowed to ride the school bus or to return to school until an inspection by the school nurse shows that the lice have been eliminated.

Local school officials—Jacob, Randolph and Bay-Waveland School District Superintendent J.D. McCullough—all agree that the problem is primarily in the elementary schools rather than secondary schools.

But when elementary students with siblings in secondary school are found to be infested, their older brothers and sisters are checked, too.

McCullough said he does not feel the problem in the Bay St. Louis and Waveland schools is as bad as it was two or three years ago.

Because the Bay-Waveland School District does not have a school nurse, the school principals and their staff voluntarily examine the children, McCullough said.

Bay-Waveland infested students are also re-examined when they return to school following treatment.

Crab Louse

The crab louse is only distantly related to head and body lice and is usually found in the coarse hair near the sex organs or in the armpits, eyelashes, or other hair. Crab lice may be spread through sexual contact or by contact with infested bedding or clothing.

Spot checks are made at North Bay and, James said, "When we can get help, we will check the entire school."

The problem at Waveland Elementary, said Principal James Baldree, is not as bad this year as it has been the last few years.

"The problem still exists, but it is not as serious because people are better informed as to how to treat it and rid the home of contamination."

He said the program at Waveland Elementary is an ongoing one, with teachers and aides constantly alert to any obvious signals from children.

Waveland Elementary also has periodic random-selection checks.

Also, if parents suspect that their children are infested, they may request an examination by the school.

When children are found to be infested, their school relays the information to other schools so that siblings may be checked, Baldree said.

Sister Virginia, principal of Our Lady Academy, said there has not been a single instance of head lice in two years at the high school, and that there were only a few scattered cases last year at Bay Catholic Elementary School—"not even an epidemic in any class."

Head Louse

Head lice usually prefer to live and multiply in the finer hair on the back of the head, but they may also be found in the eyebrows or other facial hair and in caps and on collars, scarves, sheets and pillow cases.

District, says head lice is "not an awful problem, just a continuing one."

"I can't see that this year is worse than any other year," she said Monday.

Jacob said she has ordered a film strip for elementary students, and as soon as she can go through the materials, she plans to visit all the elementary classrooms to show the film.

Emphasizing the importance of educating youngsters, Jacob said she frequently reminds children not to share combs, hats or coats.

"But I had one mother tell me this morning that recently on a picture-taking day, all the girls were lined up in the bathroom combing each other's hair and sharing combs," she said.

Jacob affirmed the Mississippi Department of Health report that people of all social and economic levels can become infested.

"I just got back from England, where we visited my husband's old school," she said.

"It's a rather posh boys' school, and we had dinner with the headmaster, and he said they're having a problem there, too."

Jacob said that the elemenis usually a major outbreak of head lice once or twice each year, and he said all the schools in the immediate area are having problems right now.

Harrison County had a ma-

Body Louse

Body lice are closely related to head lice, but the body louse usually prefers to live in underclothing and other garments near the skin where it feeds. This insect's bite is most commonly found near the shoulders or the waist. Since only body lice under certain conditions can carry serious disease, treatment is especially important.

for outbreak within the last few weeks, according to Randolph.

The Hancock County School Board policy on head lice, adopted as long ago as 1978, requires principals to send a letter home to all parents when one or more cases of head lice have been detected.

"Parents have become used to working with the school on this matter," McCullough said, "and most of the parents cooperate real well."

North Bay Elementary School Principal Rogers James said it is usually a classroom teacher who discovers the problem.

Diagnosis

Intense itching and scratching of the scalp and back of the neck can indicate the presence of lice. A close inspection of the suspect area can reveal small, whitish eggs firmly attached to the hair shaft or hatched lice and itchy, red marks from the saliva of the louse. Human body lice inject saliva under the skin as they suck blood, producing a local lesion at any spot where they feed.

"Intense itching"

Centsable Changes Save Money & Add Comfort.

The Heat and Cool Pump is One Centsable Change.

Tom and Lyn Turner were willing to go along with the idea. They didn't really believe us when we said a Heat & Cool pump would save them money and keep them comfortable winter in, summer out. It was hard to believe that a simple change like that could make a real difference. But they listened to what Mississippi Power had to say.

See, during the winter there's always some heat in the air. The Heat & Cool pump moves this heat inside to warm your home. And during the summer the Heat & Cool pump automatically reverses this process to cool your home by removing heat and moisture from the inside.

But, as Tom and Lyn Turner found out, you don't have to understand it to appreciate it. The savings on your monthly electrical bill will be reason enough. Let Mississippi Power make the difference. For you.

State park reservations accepted beginning Jan. 2

Reservations for vacation cabins at Mississippi state parks for 1984 will be accepted beginning Jan. 2 at 8 a.m.

Reservations may be made by contacting the individual park office during regular business hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Cabin reservations are not required but are strongly recommended. Aubrey Rozzell, director, Bureau of Recreation and Parks, said the following rules apply to cabin reservations:

1. One person may not make reservations for more than five cabins for one date, unless special approval is given by the district manager to accommodate family reunions, etc.

2. Reservations can be made for only one set of dates at a time.

3. First priority will be given to in-person requests, followed by telephone requests, and letters, postmarked after Jan. 1. Minimum stay for the heavy use season (May 1-Sept. 15) is three nights. There is a two-night minimum during other times of the year. Maximum stay during the heavy use season is 14 days.

State parks with vacation cabins are: Clarke, Quitman; George Payne Cossar, Oakland; Holmes County, Durant; Hugh White, Grenada; J. P. Coleman, Iuka; John W. Kyle, Sardis; Lake Lowndes, Columbus; Leroy Percy, Hollandale; Paul B. Johnson, Hattiesburg; Percy Quinn, McComb; Roosevelt, Morton; Tishomingo, Dennis; Tombigbee, Tupelo; and Wall Duxey, Holly Springs.

For a complete list of state parks, their facilities, rates, addresses, and telephone number, write Parks, Post Office Box 20305, Jackson, MS 39209, telephone (601) 961-5014.

St. Ann-St. John Altar Society is inviting all members to attend the annual Christmas party to be held 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 9 in the parish hall.

Mrs. Buddy (Shirley) Williams, club president, has announced there will be no luncheon-social in December due to the Christmas holidays. Isabelle Crais of New Orleans won the electric clock awarded by the altar society.

Jackie St. Roman of St. Bernard was the happy recipient of the crocheted afghan.

ETV Brief

FARMWEEK

Christmas trees sold in stores and parking lots aren't just "discovered" by ax-wielding entrepreneurs who want to make an easy buck over the weekend.

They are carefully cultivated all year by Mississippi's Christmas tree farmers, who consider their seasonal commodity comparable to traditional row crops.

The Christmas edition of "Farmweek" will report on this agribusiness at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 12 on Mississippi ETV.

Weather forecasts, farm news, market reports and analyses, advice for farmers of various commodities and a calendar of upcoming events are included on each edition of "Farmweek," which is co-produced by Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Take stock in America.

PURCHASE AWARD WINNER—Bay St. Louis Artist Jean Van Peak won a $200 First Bank of Sibley Purchase Award in the recent Sibley Art League's Annual Fall Show. In addition, Van Peak sold two miniature dolls to individual buyers for $20 each. Her professional affiliations include Pearl River Art League, Sibley Artists League, Ocean Springs Art Association, and Bland Art Association. She began her art career some 19 years ago with a Famous Artists Drawing course and has continued her training with private lessons. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perce)

'Who's Who' names 98 area students in high school listing

A total of 98 students from this area have been included in the 17th annual edition of 'Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1982-1983.'

'Who's Who,' published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Ill., is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are selected by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches or the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests or extra-curricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service.

Traditionally, 99 percent of 'Who's Who' students have a grade point average of 'B' or better and 97 percent are college bound.

The 17th edition of 'Who's Who,' published in nine regional volumes, features 375,000 students, or five percent of the nation's 8,000,000 high school juniors and seniors. They represent 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

'Who's Who' students also compete for over $50,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teenage attitudes.

The book is distributed on a complimentary basis to more than 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities and public libraries throughout the country.

Local students selected for this year's volumes include:

The Sea Coast Echo Book Review

"Domestic Policy Formation: Presidential-Congressional Partnership?" a new book by Dr. Steven A. Shull, University of New Orleans professor of political science, has been published by Greenwood Press.

In his book, Dr. Shull argues that the policy-making process depends upon the strategies and interactions of political actors and the functional and substantive content of public policy. He explains policy formation as the four-step process of agenda-setting, initiation, modification, and adoption.

Shull, who is considered one of the country's most knowledgeable authorities on the presidency, focuses on Congress and the President as the ultimate arbiters of national policy formation.

He concentrates on six policy areas which serve as the framework for the book: agricultural price supports, public works, crime, anti-trust, civil rights, and poverty. The book also addresses several subsidiary issues including the identification and clarification of roles in policy formation.

Other of Dr. Shull's books are "Presidency: Studies in Public Policy," "Presidential Policy-Making: An Analysis," and "Interrelated Concepts in Policy Research."

DRUG QUIZ

Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

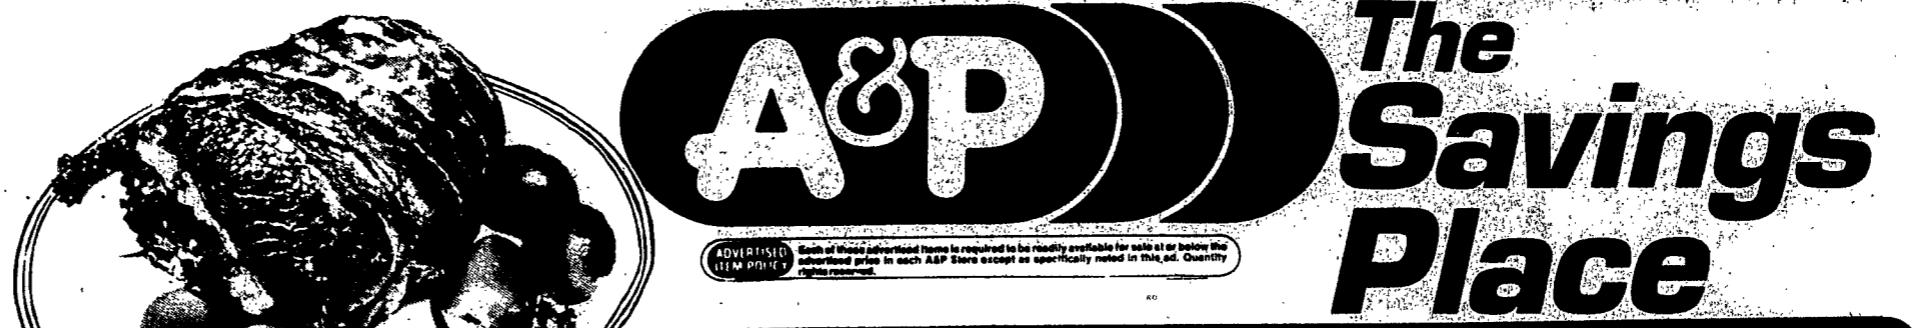

QUESTION - Which of these is not a possible effect of the use of marijuana or hashish?

- a) Decreased appetite
- b) Euphoria
- c) Relaxed inhibitions
- d) Changes in sensory perception

ANSWER - A very common effect of smoking pot is a tremendous increase in appetite, called getting the "munchies." Contrary to what proponents of legalization claim, research does not indicate that marijuana is a harmless drug. Marijuana deserves the same careful, scientific scrutiny any other drug coming onto the market receives. The recreational effects listed above (b, c, and d) must be weighed against the possible injurious effects of long-term chronic use.

Correct answer - a.

HANCOCK NORTH CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Rance Necale
HNC Student
Council Reporter

HNC's Beta Club recently conducted an annual ceremony in which 35 new members were inducted. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Seniors at HNC went to PRC to tour the campus last Friday, an annual event.

The Juniors at HNC took the ASVAB test on Tuesday. Semester exams have been scheduled for Dec. 14, 15, and 16.

First and third period tests will be given on the 14th, and school will let out at 1:10 p.m. on this day.

The second and fifth period tests will be given on the 15th, and school again will let out at 11:10 p.m. on this day. The fourth and sixth period tests will be given on the 16th, and school will let out at 11:30 a.m. on this day.

Also on Friday, the Child Development class at HNC went to Gulfport Memorial Hospital to tour the facilities. Their guide at the hospital was Irene Brown, head nurse of the labor and delivery department. The teacher of the class who went with them is Mrs. Debbie Niolet.

While at the hospital they viewed ultrasound equipment and how it is used during pregnancy.

They saw a filmstrip on prepared childbirth and delivery of a baby. Then they went up to the nursery to see the newborn babies.

This year, unlike last year, they were not able to see a labor and delivery room, because the rooms were full.

The class goes to the hospital every year after they have studied labor and delivery to reinforce what is taught in class. This year 29 girls went to the hospital.

Teacher of The Week of This Week is Richard Streiff. Mr. Streiff is a native and resident of Gulfport.

He graduated from Gulfport High School and has been teaching for 37 years, four of which have been at HNC.

He teaches algebra I and geometry at HNC.

Mr. Streiff is a sponsor of the Student Council and the Senior Class.

Mr. Streiff attended Louisiana State University for one year and University of Southern Mississippi for three years where he took his bachelor of science degree in physical education.

Mr. Streiff received his master of arts degree in school administration also at USM.

His hobbies are playing golf and fishing.

Other faculty members recently honored as Teacher of The Week are Patricia Dedaux and Myrna Gregory.

Miss Dedaux, an English teacher at HNC, is currently living in Pass Christian.

She is originally from Delisle and graduated from Randolph High School.

Miss Dedaux has been teaching for 13 years, 11 of which have been at HNC. She is responsible for establishing the unified course of study for the English Department and is a sponsor of the Sophomore Class and the Beta Club.

Miss Dedaux attended Jackson State University for four years and received her bachelor of science degree in English education.

She is currently attending the University of Southern Mississippi to receive her master of science degree in education. Her hobbies are crocheting, sewing and reading current biographies.

Mrs. Gregory teaches algebra I, and algebra II, trigonometry, and pre-calculus.

She is currently living in Kiln and is originally from Norwood, La.

Mrs. Gregory is a sponsor of the Volleyball Team and the Junior class.

She is responsible for starting trigonometry and pre-calculus courses.

Her hobbies are twirling the baton, volleyball, singing, basketball and water skiing. Mrs. Gregory has been teaching for three years, all which have been at HNC.

She attended the Southwest Mississippi Junior College for two years, where she majored in math education and received her associate of arts degree.

She attended Mississippi State University for two years majoring in math education.

She received her bachelor of science degree there.

Mrs. Gregory received her master of education from the University of Mississippi, which she attended for two years majoring in math education.

She received numerous awards while in high school and college.

CLASS RINGS
HNC Juniors ordered their class rings. This is a very special time for the Juniors.

The class ring preserves memories and is a symbol of the school days. The Juniors will receive their rings sometime in the middle of January.

The first Alumni Association organizational meeting was held Tuesday, Dec. 6, in the HNC Library.

After the meeting refreshments were served.

The staff organizing the Alumni Association includes Rance Necale, director, who is the Student Council reporter; Melissa Evert, assistant director, who is the Student Council parliamentarian; Wilda McNatt, advisor, who is a history teacher at HNC; Richard Streiff, advisor, who is a mathematics teacher at HNC; Barbara White, advisor, who is the school librarian; and Nancy Smith, advisor, who is the high school counselor. We invite any one who is an alumni of HNC to join the association.

The Beta Club, the Future Business Leaders of America Club and the Student Council at HNC prepared a Thanksgiving basket which was delivered to the Annunciation Convent for distribution to a needy family in the parish.

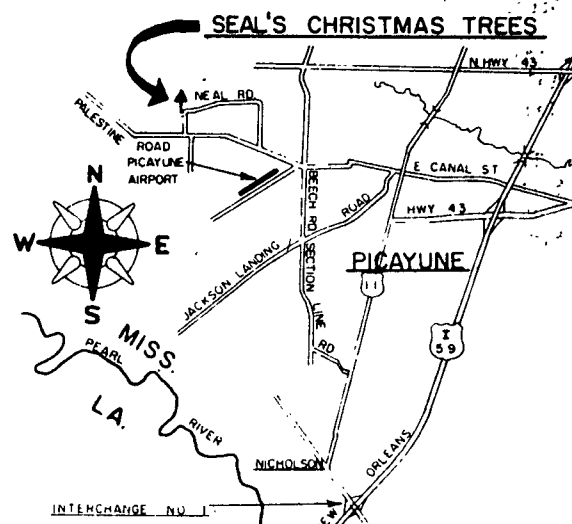

To prepare this basket, canned goods were brought by the club members.

Help Your Heart

Cigars, Pipe: Not Safe Options?

Many cigarette smokers who switch to cigars or a pipe fail to lower their risk of lung cancer and, perhaps heart disease because they continue to inhale. A University of Minnesota researcher recently reported. The tobacco smoke inhalation pattern becomes so ingrained that many ex-cigarette smokers adapt it to their pipe and cigar smoking. Terry Dr. Pechacek, Ph.D., told an American Heart Association meeting.

"These pipe and cigar smokers exhale much of the smoke, but then deeply inhale a blend of air and the small amount of smoke left in the mouth," he explains. Because pipe and cigar smoke is much more dense than cigarette smoke, it contains significant amounts of damaging chemicals even when it's diluted, says Dr. Pechacek. Until now, pipes and cigars were considered to be a relatively safe alternative, but those risk assessments were based on data collected in the 1950s and early 1960s, says Dr. Pechacek. He is an assistant professor of epidemiology at the School of Public Health in Minneapolis. "Back then, most of the pipe and cigar smokers had never smoked cigarettes regularly, so they usually did not inhale," he says. "Large numbers of regular cigarette smokers switching to pipes and cigars happened only more recently."

Dr. Pechacek and his colleagues surveyed 9,106 male and female smokers in several communities in Minnesota and North and South Dakota. They located 114 cigar, cigarillo or pipe smokers who had never smoked cigarettes and 194 who had. The 194 ex-cigarette smokers who had switched had significantly higher blood serum levels of thiocyanate, a chemical indicator of smoke inhalation, Dr. Pechacek says. "The thiocyanate data suggest the amount of smoke that actually goes into the lungs of pipe and cigar smokers is surprisingly high."

Some doctors are starting to notice cases of lung cancer in people who quit smoking cigarettes 15 or 20 years ago but continue to smoke pipes or cigars, Dr. Pechacek says. Because switching from cigarettes to pipes and cigars is a relatively recent trend, it will be years before a large number of such cases shows up in death statistics, he says. "We think it's wrong to wait for those statistics before warning cigarette smokers that switching to pipes and cigars may not lower their risk of disease."

Let's talk about MONEY... YOUR MONEY... and building a new home at 10% annual percentage rate FINANCING

MADISON — 4 Bedrooms - 2 Baths

You can save 10 years of monthly payments and as much as $58,000 on the financing of a $35,000 home. IT'S A FACT!!!

Yes, let's talk facts about building your new home... and let's talk facts about saving your money... LOTS of your money!!! To begin with, when you plan to build a new home and finance it, even a difference of only 1%, 2%, or 3% in the financing rate can, over the term of the mortgage, mean the savings of many, many thousands of your hard-earned dollars. This is where Jim Walter Homes can help you.

For example, would you believe that you can save more than $58,000 when you finance a $35,000 home with Jim Walter? IT'S TRUE... WE CAN PROVE IT!!! First, while other financing rates are as much as 11%, 12%, or 13%, Jim Walter's annual percentage rate is still ONLY 10%. Secondly, your home can be paid for in only 20 years, rather than 30 long, long years. And third, when you compare 13% financing of a $35,000, 30-year mortgage with Jim Walter's 20-year financing of this same amount, you'll not only save more than $58,000, your monthly payment will be nearly $50.00 less, and you'll make only 240, not 360 payments. That's only 20 years, not 30 years of mortgage payments. (A glance at the chart in this ad will show you comparisons.) Furthermore, there are no "points" or closing cost add-ons to increase what you will pay.

Jim Walter financing can be arranged FAST... in a matter of days, rather than weeks and weeks. Then, construction of your new home can begin almost immediately, almost anywhere in your own property. We'll complete the outside and, if you like, stop right there so that you can finish the interior to suit yourself at tremendous savings. Or, we'll finish the inside, up to 90% complete. Do as much or as little as you Choose from more than 20 models... Built on your property to almost any stage from the shell to 90% complete!

MAROON BAND MEMBERS—The Famous Maroon Band of Mississippi State University celebrates its 63rd anniversary with the current semester. The 250-member unit, under the direction of Dr. Kent Sills, has been featured at nine football

Coastcon sponsoring science fiction-fantasy literary competition

The first annual CoastCon Literary Competition will be held next spring in connection with the seventh annual CoastCon science fiction, fantasy and gaming convention.

CoastCon '84 will be March 9-11, 1984, at the Royal d'Iberville on the beach in Biloxi.

The literary competition is seeking writers of short stories and poetry, which will be considered for inclusion in a field of 30 semi-finalists, five from each of the three categories in two divisions.

These semi-final entries will be judged by some of the leading writers of novels, stories and screenplays in the science fiction/fantasy genre for selection of top winners.

Divisions of the contest are short stories, not to exceed 1,200 words in length, Division I, and poetry, Division II.

Within each division there are three categories: Category A, for junior high school aged writers, through the ninth grade; Category B, for senior high school aged writers, through the 12th grade, and Category C, for writers of college age or older.

Ribbons will be awarded to all semi-finalists, with plaques to be presented to all finalists at the CoastCon '84 awards ceremony. No entry fees are being charged, and no limit on entries per writer has been set. All entries should be submitted in original form (no carbon copies), on standard 8 1/2 x 11 inch paper (no onion skin), typed and double-spaced.

Manuscripts should carry no names or addresses; this information should be submitted on a separate piece of paper, and should be complete.

Deadline for submissions is staggered; short stories must be received by CoastCon by Dec. 1, 1983, and poems by Jan. 1, 1984. Submissions should be mailed to CoastCon, Inc., P. O. Box 1432, Biloxi MS 39522.

Information on the contest is being mailed to school districts. For further information, write CoastCon as soon as possible.

Santa visits Hancock County children!

Staff photos
by
Ellis Cuevas

SANTA COMES TO TOWN—Santa arrived in Hancock County on Saturday on a Bay St. Louis fire engine escorted by police cars. Among those on hand for Santa's visit included from right, Joannie Garcia, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce special events chairman; Rev. Charles Clark, pastor Assembly of God Church, Waveland; John Longo, Waveland mayor; and Assembly of God's choir. Elected officials included Longo, Larry Bennett, Bay St. Louis mayor; Ronnie Peterson, Hancock County sheriff; and Louie Smolensky, Waveland Alderman. Santa had over 100 youngsters give him their wishes for Christmas. The event was sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. A Christmas tree on the courthouse lawn was lighted by Mayor Bennett and Mrs. Garcia. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

GREENS

Collards, mustard and turnip greens have varying pasts, but all have been a valuable food source for mankind since prehistoric times.

Mustard greens originated in the far eastern countries of India, Burma and China. Collards and turnip greens are known to have been cultivated around the Mediterranean and in Asia Minor. These greens have long been a staple of the wandering tribes in those areas, and it is uncertain in which of these regions they were first grown.

They were introduced to the United States during the 16th and 17th centuries. Turnip greens were first brought to America by European travelers and were later planted in Virginia and Massachusetts.

Turnip greens carried over to the South by American colonists. Green beans became quite popular in Southern states.

In the United States, greens are principally grown in the South, but Arizona, California, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and New Jersey also contribute to commercial production. Since the greatest quantities of collards, turnip and mustard greens appear on the market in the fall and winter months, they are also called winter greens.

Few vegetables contribute more to health than collards, mustard and turnip greens. A generous serving of these winter greens provide more than 100 percent of the recommended daily allowance for adults of both vitamins A and C.

Vitamin A helps keep the lining of the respiratory, digestive and urinary tracts in good condition. It also helps eyes adapt to changes in light. Vitamin C helps strengthen the walls of blood vessels, promotes the healing of wounds and aids the body in resisting infection.

In addition, greens provide large amounts of iron and calcium. Iron combines with protein to make hemoglobin, the red substance of blood which carries oxygen from the lungs to the brain, muscles and other organs. Iron also aids cells in using the oxygen it transports. Calcium is needed to build strong bones and teeth. It helps blood to clot, and nerves, muscles and heart to work properly.

All of these vitamins and minerals, supplied by collards, mustard and turnip greens, work as a team to keep the body healthy and happy. Greens also aid digestion by furnishing bulk and roughage to the diet.

When preparing greens, be nutrition conscious. Conserve these abundant nutrients by discarding only leaves that are badly bruised, wilted or yellowed.

The outer, deep-colored parts of greens contain substantially more nutrients than the inner part. The leafy, outer parts of collards and turnip greens have much more vitamin A than the stems and midribs.

The leafy blades of collard greens have 30 times as much vitamin A as an equal weight of the midrib. Turnip greens have more than 20 times as much vitamin A in the thin leafy part as in the midrib. The leafy part of greens also contains the highest concentrations of vitamin C and iron.

Greens are not only nutritious, they add color and variety to meals at easily affordable prices.

Select only the freshest greens. The best quality greens should be crisp, young and have a good green color. Healthy mustard greens often display a variety of shades of green.

Some mustard greens show a slight bronze tint. This is normal. Some are naturally light green. Small, yellowish-green undeveloped heart leaves are natural and should not be considered undesirable. Always avoid greens that look wilted, flabby, coarse, very large, or yellowed. Wilting or yellowing of the leaves indicates old age or other forms of damage. Coarse leaves are generally tough and stringy and cause waste.

Examine the leaves for insect damage. Aphids commonly attack greens. These pests are often hard to see and equally hard to wash away. Worm injury may also be found in collards.

Buy fresh greens at the height of the season for the best quality. Greens are available in largest quantities from late fall through winter. When large quantities of greens flood the market, retail stores often reduce prices on the most plentiful frozen and canned items in order to make room for new stock. This is a good time to purchase the produce of your choice in quantity.

Always sort fresh vegetables before storing. Bruised or soft greens should be used immediately or discarded. Do not store them with sound vegetables.

Greens will maintain their crisp freshness if stored in covered containers or plastic bags and placed in the refrigerator. This also protects other foods from picking up their strong odor. If you wash greens before storing, drain them thoroughly. Too much moisture will hasten their decay. To enjoy greens at their best, use them within three to five days of purchase.

When buying large quantities of frozen greens, check the temperature of your freezer. If the temperature of the freezing compartment is above 0 degrees F, plan to use frozen vegetables within a few days. Commercially frozen greens may be stored up to eight months. Home frozen greens will maintain high quality as long as eight to 12 months. Store unopened canned vegetables in a cool, dry place. It is wise to use canned vegetables within a year of purchase. They lose quality if stored too long, but remain safe to eat indefinitely if the seal has not been broken. Canned vegetables should be used within two days after opening.

Collards, mustard and turnip greens have been a favorite in the South for generations. They are traditionally served in "pot likker." This is a thin broth obtained from boiling salt pork of ham in a small amount of water. Any water in which greens have been cooked will have its share of vitamins and minerals, as well as flavor. Save any excess water and add it to sauces or gravies.

Greens can also be prepared in many other delicious ways. Turnip greens are excellent when cooked in any of the methods used for spinach. Try baking it with bacon or serve it boiled or creamed.

The young, tender leaves of mustard greens can be used in salads either alone or mixed with other salad greens and ingredients. The mature leaves are better suited for cooking. They can be prepared as you would spinach or can be used as pot herbs and added to soups and stews.

Collards add a new dimension to meals. Fry pieces of bacon or salt pork in a skillet, then add cleaned and shredded collard leaves. Cover and simmer until tender and serve with lemon slices or vinegar.

When preparing greens, allow 2½ pounds for four servings. Rinse leaves in cool water, drain and place in the refrigerator. When ready to cook, cut off roots and remove any damaged leaves. Strip leaves from stiff, thick midribs. Wash leaves thoroughly in cold running water to remove sand.

To insure the best flavor, color, texture and food value in vegetables, cook them only until they are tender. To shorten cooking time, coarsely shred greens.

MSU's Phi Kappa Phi chapter inducts 136

Some 136 students have been inducted into Phi Kappa Phi national honor society at Mississippi State University.

Membership is open to seniors at the top of their respective classes in all academic majors. Graduate students and juniors whose scholastic achievements are at the very highest levels are also eligible.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded at the University of Maine in 1897. At present, there are approximately 230 chapters nationwide with a total membership of more than 370,000.

Among those inducted during the 1993 fall semester are: Ackerman—Julie Black, junior, home economics; Amory—Patti Francis, senior, communication/English; Batesville—John Morris, senior, computer science.

Craig Montgomery of Diamondhead, senior, chemical engineering.

Alan Smith Carriere, senior, electrical engineer.

Angela Lockhart, senior, accounting; and Theresa

Taconi, senior, microbiology, both of Pass Christian.

Deborah Burke, senior, psychology; and Michael

Crosby, senior, political science/psychology, both of Picayune.

Rust College to offer courses at Gulfside facility

Starting in January Rust College will offer courses at Waveland's Gulfside Assembly on South Beach Boulevard next to Buccaneer State Park.

The Gulfside offerings will include innovative programs, continuing education courses, courses for certification, all freshmen, special education and early childhood education courses.

Rust College in Holly Springs is accredited by the Southern Association of College and Schools, Mississippi State Department and the University Senate of United Methodist Church.

A co-educational senior liberal arts college Rust is a historically black, church-related and founded in 1886, the oldest of all private black colleges in Mississippi.

For information, call 467-4909 or write P.O. Box 27, Waveland, Ms. 39576.

Welsh named director of Vo-Tech Department

Don Welsh, director of the Pearl River College Lamar County Vo-Tech Center for the past two years, has been named director of the PRC Vocational-Technical Department on the main campus in Poplarville.

Dr. James Sones, dean of Pearl River College's vocational-technical education, said Welsh assumed his new responsibilities after James (Cotton) Forte's recent retirement.

Welsh was drafting instructor at the PRC Forrest County Center for eight years before taking over as the Lamar Center director in July of 1981. "Welsh will continue to do an outstanding job for Pearl River College," said Dr. Sones. "I know he will do the same great job at the Poplarville center as he has for the Lamar and Forrest County centers."

Welsh is a resident of the Caesar community in Hancock County. He is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi where he received his masters in industrial vocational education and education administration.

In 1966 Welsh graduated from Pearl River College with a degree in drafting and design. He graduated from Pearl River Central High School in 1964.

Before joining Pearl River in 1973 as drafting instructor at the Forrest County Center in Hattiesburg, he worked as a draftsman for Boeing Aerospace at Michoud in New Orleans.

Welsh is a member of the Mississippi Junior College Faculty Association, the Mississippi Association of Vocational Educators and the American Vocational Association.

"The PRC vo-tech center is one of the most modern and well-equipped vocational-technical centers in the state," Welsh said. "I'm also very lucky to direct a center with such an outstanding faculty and staff. This staff is very competent and displays a high degree of pride and professionalism."

Sixteen one and two-year programs are offered at the Poplarville campus. Technical courses include data processing, marketing, drafting, electronics, medical secretary, secretarial and secretarial science.

Vocational programs offered are auto mechanics, carpentry, cosmetology, diesel mechanics, electricity, heating and refrigeration, machine shop, masonry and welding. Adult education night classes are also provided.

Welsh is a member of the Union Baptist Church. He is married to the former Elaine Gipson and they have one son, Kristen Seth.

LAURA GILHAM

Gilham wins scholarship

Laura B. Gilham of Bay St. Louis, a full-time graduate student in the School of Library Service at the University of Southern Mississippi, is the 1983-84 winner of an annual $250 scholarship provided by the Baker & Taylor Company and the Junior Members Roundtable of the Mississippi Library Association (MLA).

The award was presented to Ms. Gilham at the Second General Session of the MLA Annual Conference held in Jackson recently. Charlie McDaniel, the southeast regional representative for Baker & Taylor, presented the award.

The Baker & Taylor Company, the nation's oldest and largest book supplier, established the Grassroots Grants program in 1978. In Mississippi, the program is being sponsored by the MLA Junior Members Roundtable, an organization especially designed to meet the needs of new librarians and library science students.

The Grants program, sponsored nationwide by Baker & Taylor, provided Ms. Gilham the opportunity to attend the MLA Annual Conference, where she received the award.

Prior to enrolling in the USM master of library science program, Ms. Gilham worked as a student assistant and clerk-typist at Ohio University, as a Media Center Aide in Marion, Iowa, and as an audiovisual technical assistant at Parkersburg Community College in Parkersburg, WV.

She is a 1975 cum laude graduate of Ohio University at Athens, where she earned her bachelor of arts in general studies.

Currently, Ms. Gilham serves as secretary-treasurer of the USM Library Science Student Association and works as a graduate assistant in the Teaching Learning Resource Center at USM.

She is married to James R. Gilham, an engineer at Borg-Warner Chemical in Hancock County's Port Blenville Industrial Park.
